GMO Emerging Country Debt UCITS Fund - a sub-fund of GMO INVESTMENTS ICAV

Class A USD (ISIN: IE00BHTFVQ70)

Managed by Waystone Management Company (IE) Limited (the “Manager”)

Objectives and Investment Policy

The fund seeks a total return in excess of that of its benchmark, the J.P. Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global Diversified. The fund invests primarily in debt securities of emerging market country sovereign or quasi-sovereign issuers that usually is denominated in U.S. Dollars, Euros, Japanese Yen, Swiss Francs or Sterling. “Sovereign” refers to a government and “quasi-sovereign” refers to a governmental agency or other issuer that is majority-owned, directly or indirectly, or whose obligations are guaranteed, by a government. Emerging market countries are those included in the benchmark or that have similar national domestic products or default histories to those of countries included in the benchmark. The fund may invest in debt securities of all credit qualities, including securities that are in default, and may invest in corporate bonds. The fund may also invest in other investment funds to pursue the investment objective of this fund. The fund selects assets based on an analysis of risk at both the portfolio and individual security level and takes into account interest rate duration, credit spread duration, liquidity, transaction costs and default duration as well as the particular risk of each investment. The factors considered and models used by the investment adviser may change over time. The fund is actively managed. The fund does not seek to track its benchmark and so has discretion as to invest in positions that may or may not be included in the benchmark. The fund may use instruments whose value is determined by changes in the value of the underlying assets they represent (derivatives). Derivatives may be used for investment purposes and for the reduction of risk and cost and the generation of additional capital or income. You may sell your shares usually on each business day (generally a day on which banks in Dublin and London and New York and the New York Stock Exchange are open) by sending your request to State Street Fund Services (Ireland) Limited before 2.00 pm (Irish time) on the preceding business day. Income is reinvested into the fund. For more information about the investment policy, see “Investment Objectives and Policies of the Funds” in the fund’s prospectus available at www.gmo.com. Recommendation: this fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within the short term.

Risk and Reward Profile

The risk category is based on the historical data of the share class and, where sufficient historical data of the share class is not available, such data is supplemented with data from one or more of the following: another share class within the Fund, an appropriate index and/or other funds or products managed by the investment adviser that implement the same strategy. The stated risk category may not be a reliable indicator of the future risk profile of the fund and cannot be guaranteed to remain unchanged. This risk categorisation may change over time.

The numerical scale is complex. For example, 2 is not twice as risky as 1. The gap between 1 and 2 might not be the same as the gap between 5 and 6. A category 1 fund is not a risk-free investment – the risk of losing your money may be small, but the chance of making gains is also limited.

The fund is in category 4 because it invests in a wider range of assets worldwide and so historically there has been a greater fluctuation in the price of the shares of the fund than other funds (such as money market funds).

Risks materially relevant to the fund which may not be adequately captured by the indicator:

The fund may not achieve its investment objective and the value of shares in the fund may fall. Issuers of a debt security, or other parties with whom the fund trades, may be unable or unwilling to make payments or deliver instruments to the fund. As a result, this could lead to a loss. This risk is higher in respect of debt securities of emerging market country sovereign or quasisovereign issuers and/or debt securities with lower credit ratings.

The market price and liquidity of a debt security may decline as a result of an issuer’s failure to meet its obligations.

Interest rate movements affect the value of debt securities. The price of a debt security generally falls when interest rates rise. Debt securities with a final payment date further into the future are more sensitive to changes in interest rates.

Geopolitical and other events may disrupt markets and adversely affect global economies and markets. Those events as well as other changes in foreign and domestic economic and political conditions could adversely affect the value of the fund’s investments.

Fluctuations in exchange rates can adversely affect the market value of the investments of the fund. Low trading volume, lack of a market-maker, large position size, or legal restrictions may limit or prevent the fund from selling particular securities or closing derivative positions at desirable prices.

The use of derivatives involves the risk that their value may not move as expected relative to the value of the relevant underlying assets, rates or indices. Derivatives also present other risks, including market risk, liquidity risk, currency risk and counterparty risk. The risk of loss resulting from the use of derivatives is potentially unlimited. Derivatives markets are highly volatile.

See also the description of the risks applicable to the fund in the section titled “Risk Factors” in the fund’s prospectus.
