Performance data quoted represents past performance and is not indicative of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance data may be lower or higher than the performance data provided herein. To obtain performance information to the most recent month-end, visit www.gmo.com. Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) are bought and sold through exchange trading at market price (not NAV), and are not individually redeemed from the fund. Shares may trade at a premium or discount to their NAV in the secondary market. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.

MAJOR PERFORMANCE DRIVERS

U.S. fixed income markets continued to advance in the fourth quarter of 2025 and posted broadly positive total and excess returns. The macroeconomic backdrop continued to surprise on the upside, with softer-than-expected November inflation print. The Federal Reserve implemented two additional 25 bps cuts in October and December, lowering the target rate to 3.50%-3.75%.

The portfolio, which launched on October 27, 2025, outperformed the benchmark, the FTSE 3-month Treasury Bill over the period, driven by high-quality credit exposure.

The portfolio maintained an average interest rate duration below 0.5 years and spread duration between 0.6 and 0.5 years. At the end of the period, the portfolio's average coupon was 4.7% and the average yield was 4.3%.

Going into the first quarter of 2026, the portfolio held roughly 79% in AAA CLOs, 18% in U.S. Treasury notes and bills, 2% in U.S. Treasury floating rate notes (FRNs), and 1% in Short U.S. TIPS.

Performance for the year of inception is less than a full calendar year. Returns shown for periods greater than one year are on an annualized basis.

Risks: Risks associated with investing in the Fund may include: (1) Market Risk - Fixed Income Investments: The market price of a fixed income investment can decline due to a number of market-related factors, including rising interest rates and widening credit spreads or decreased liquidity stemming from the market's uncertainty about the value of a fixed income investment (or class of fixed income investments); (2) Market Risk-Asset-Backed Securities Risk: The market price of asset-backed securities, like that of other fixed income investments with complex structures, can decline for a variety of reasons, including investor uncertainty about their credit quality and the reliability of their payment streams. Payment streams associated with asset-backed securities held by the Fund depend on many factors (e.g., the cash flow generated by the assets backing the securities, deal structure, and creditworthiness of any credit-support provider), and a problem in any of these factors can lead to a reduction in the payment stream GMO expected the Fund to receive when the Fund purchased the asset-backed security, and (3) Credit Risk: The risk that the issuer or guarantor of a fixed income investment or the obligor of an obligation underlying an asset-backed security will be unable or unwilling to satisfy its obligation to pay principal and interest or otherwise to honor its obligations in a timely manner. For a more complete discussion of these risks and others, please consult the Fund's Prospectus. Performance Returns: Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) are bought and sold through exchange trading at market price (not NAV), and are not individually redeemed from the fund.
